
Kenneth W. Carter

Kenneth W. Carter lived his whole life in Stamford. His affection for his native city never diminished. He loved the community deeply.

This emotion was expressed in a large variety of ways. He was prominent in financial circles, active in civic welfare. Even his avocation was in the public interest. He knew and constantly studied fire equipment and its uses. He supported our Stamford Fire Department, aiding it in getting the modern fire-fighting equipment it needed. His service and interest did not end with his official duties as a member of the Board of Public Safety.

Kenneth Carter served his country in war with honor and his community with dignity his whole life. At all times, he was in his relations with his fellows all that is best connotated by the word gentleman.
